Dear Sirs:

As I see it, you have established as a finding of fact that Microsoft has broken the law. Microsoft is quite apparently lacking in repentance and assured that it can evade justice . Your responsibility is to insure that Microsoft _cannot_ continue to break the law. Microsoft has made it clear that it does not understand the crimes it is guilty of, nor does it intend to learn how or why it should change its own behavior, other than as a response to your judgement, and its desire to avoid substantial pain suffered as a result. Please do whatever it takes to stop these guys!

Sincerely,
Ernest Paul Webber
